

Potential matters Yours. Hers. Everyone's.

Does anyone understand your own life better than you? Didn't think so.

All We Can works by helping local organisations in low-income countries improve what they are already doing, rather than offering new solutions that local people might not need nor ask for. Our school is committed to supporting All We Can in this vision of partnership.

What might you do to raise vital funds for All We Can?

Speak to

if you want to get involved.

allwecan.org.uk/partnerschools

    @allwecanuk

This is Rosina Wisick. She was a single mum looking after her children in Malawi when a huge storm came. The floods ruined everything, including her schoolbooks and uniform. A local charity called Eagles, aided by All We Can, trained local leaders to ask her what she needed and respond. Then they worked together and helped pay for new equipment and uniform to get her back to school so she can be the best version of herself.

